NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

This Notice of Privacy Practices for Aegis Sciences Corporation ("AEGIS") is being provided to you as a requirement of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act ("HIPAA"). This Notice describes how AEGIS may use and disclose your protected health information to carry out treatment, payment or health care operations and for other purposes that are permitted or required by law. It also describes your rights to access and control your protected health information in some cases. Your "protected health information" means any of your written and oral health information, including demographic data that can be used to identify you. This is health information that is created or received by AEGIS, and that relates to your past, present or future physical or mental health or condition.

I. Uses and Disclosures of Protected Health Information

AEGIS may use and disclose your protected health information for purposes of providing treatment, obtaining payment for treatment, and conducting health care operations. Your protected health information may be used or disclosed only for these purposes unless AEGIS has obtained your authorization or the use or disclosure is otherwise permitted by the HIPAA Privacy Regulations or State law. Disclosures of your protected health information for the purposes described in this Notice may be made electronically, in writing, orally, by facsimile, or by other methods.

A. Treatment. AEGIS will use and disclose your protected health information for purposes of treatment which means to provide, coordinate, or manage your health care and any related services. This includes the coordination or management of your health care with a third party for treatment purposes. For example, AEGIS may disclose protected health information to physicians who may be treating you or consulting with your physician with respect to your care. In some cases, AEGIS may also disclose your protected health information to an outside treatment provider for purposes of the treatment activities of the other provider.

B. Payment. Your protected health information will be used, as needed, to obtain payment for the services that AEGIS provides. This may include certain communications to your health insurer to get approval for the treatment that would be provided by AEGIS. AEGIS may also disclose protected health information to your insurance company to determine whether you are eligible for benefits or whether a particular service is covered under your health plan. In order to get payment for your services, AEGIS may also need to disclose your protected health information to your insurance company to demonstrate the medical necessity of the services or, as required by your insurance company, for utilization review. AEGIS may also disclose patient information to another provider involved in your care for the other provider's payment activities.

C. Operations. AEGIS may use or disclose your protected health information, as necessary, for our own health care operations in order to facilitate the function of AEGIS and to provide quality care to all patients. Health care operations include such activities as:

- Quality assessment and improvement activities.
- Employee review activities.
- Training programs including those in which students, trainees, or practitioners in health care learn under supervision.
- Accreditation, certification, licensing or credentialing activities.
- Review and auditing, including compliance reviews, medical reviews, legal services and maintaining compliance programs.
- Business management and general administrative activities.

In certain situations, AEGIS may also disclose patient information to another provider or health plan for their health care operations.

D. Other Uses and Disclosures. As part of treatment, payment and healthcare operations, AEGIS may also use or disclose your protected health information for the following purposes:

- To remind you of an appointment.
- To inform you of potential treatment alternatives or options.
- To inform you of health-related benefits or services that may be of interest to you.

If we receive anything of value for making these communications, we will notify you of this fact, and you will have an opportunity to opt out of future communications.

II. Uses and Disclosures Beyond Treatment, Payment, and Health Care Operations Permitted Without Authorization or Opportunity to Object

Federal privacy rules allow AEGIS to use or disclose your protected health information without your permission or authorization for a number of reasons including the following:

A. When Legally Required. AEGIS will disclose your protected health information when AEGIS is required to do so by any Federal, State or local law.

B. For Public Health Purposes. AEGIS may disclose your protected health information for the following public activities and purposes:

- To prevent, control, or report disease, injury or disability as permitted by law.
- To report vital events such as birth or death as permitted or required by law.
- To conduct public health surveillance, investigations and interventions as permitted or required by law.
- To collect or report adverse events and product defects, track FDA regulated products, enable product recalls, repairs or replacements to the FDA and to conduct post marketing surveillance.
- To notify a person who has been exposed to a communicable disease or who may be at risk of contracting or spreading a disease as authorized by law.
- To report to an employer information about an individual who is a member of the workforce as legally permitted or required.

C. To Report Abuse, Neglect Or Domestic Violence. AEGIS may notify government authorities if AEGIS believes that a patient is the victim of abuse, neglect or domestic violence. AEGIS will make this disclosure only when specifically required or authorized by law or when the patient agrees to the disclosure.

D. To Conduct Health Oversight Activities. AEGIS may disclose your protected health information to a health oversight agency for activities including audits; civil, administrative, or criminal investigations, proceedings, or actions; inspections; licensure or disciplinary actions; or other activities necessary for appropriate oversight as authorized by law.

E. In Connection With Judicial And Administrative Proceedings. AEGIS may disclose your protected health information in the course of any judicial or administrative proceeding in response to an order of a court or administrative tribunal as expressly authorized by such order or in response to a subpoena in some circumstances.

F. For Law Enforcement Purposes. AEGIS may disclose your protected health information to a law enforcement official for law enforcement purposes as follows:

- As required by law for reporting of certain types of wounds or other physical injuries.
- Pursuant to court order, court-ordered warrant, subpoena, summons or similar process.
- For the purpose of identifying or locating a suspect, fugitive, material witness or missing person.
- Under certain limited circumstances, when you are the victim of a crime.
- To a law enforcement official if AEGIS has a suspicion that your death was the result of criminal conduct.
- In an emergency in order to report a crime.
- In the event of a crime on our premises.

G. To Coroners, Funeral Directors, and for Organ Donation. AEGIS may disclose protected health information to a coroner or medical examiner for identification purposes, to determine cause of death or for the coroner or medical examiner to perform other duties authorized by law. AEGIS may also disclose protected health information to a funeral director, as authorized by law, in order to permit the funeral director to carry out their duties. AEGIS may disclose such information in reasonable anticipation of death. Protected health information may be used and disclosed for cadaveric organ, eye or tissue donation purposes.

H. For Research Purposes. AEGIS may use or disclose your protected health information for research under certain circumstances, including when the use or disclosure for research has been approved by an institutional review board or privacy board that has reviewed the research proposal and research protocols to address the privacy of your protected health information.

I. To Prevent or Lessen A Serious Threat To Health Or Safety. AEGIS may, consistent with applicable law and ethical standards of conduct, use or disclose your protected health information if AEGIS believes, in good faith, that such use or disclosure is necessary to prevent or lessen a serious and imminent threat to your health or safety or to the health and safety of the public.

J. For Specified Government Functions. In certain circumstances, the Federal regulations authorize AEGIS to use or disclose your protected health information to facilitate specified government functions relating to military and veterans activities, national security and intelligence activities, protective services for the President and others, medical suitability determinations, correctional institutions, and law enforcement custodial situations.

K. For Worker's Compensation. AEGIS may release your health information to comply with worker's compensation laws or similar programs.

III. Uses and Disclosures Permitted Without Authorization but With Opportunity to Object
AEGIS may disclose your protected health information to your family member or a close personal friend if it is directly relevant to the person's involvement in your care or payment related to your care. AEGIS can also disclose your information in connection with trying to locate or notify family members or others involved in your care concerning your location, condition or death.

You may object to these disclosures. If you do not object to these disclosures or AEGIS can infer from the circumstances that you do not object or AEGIS determines, in the exercise of our professional judgment, that it is in your best interests for us to make disclosure of information that is directly relevant to the person's involvement with your care, AEGIS may disclose your protected health information as described.

IV. Uses and Disclosures Which You Authorize
Other than as stated above, AEGIS will not disclose your health information other than with your written authorization. For example, we will not use or disclose your health information for marketing purposes or sell your health information unless you have signed an authorization or applicable law permits the use or disclosure. You may revoke your authorization in writing at any time except to the extent that AEGIS has taken action in reliance upon the authorization.

V. Your Rights
You have the following rights regarding your health information:

A. The right to inspect and copy your protected health information. You may inspect and obtain a copy of your protected health information that is contained in a designated record set for as long as AEGIS maintains the protected health information.

A designated record set contains medical and billing records and any other records that your physician and AEGIS use for making decisions about you. Under Federal law, however, you may not inspect or copy the following records: psychotherapy notes; information compiled in reasonable anticipation of, or for use in, a civil, criminal, or administrative action or proceeding; and protected health information that is subject to a law that prohibits access to protected health information. For example, the Clinical Laboratory Improvements Amendments of 1988 (CLIA) currently does not allow individuals to receive copies of their laboratory results directly from the clinical laboratory. Depending on the circumstances, you may have the right to have a decision to deny access reviewed.

AEGIS may deny your request to inspect or copy your protected health information if, in our professional judgment, AEGIS determines that the access requested is likely to endanger your life or safety or that of another person, or that it is likely to cause substantial harm to another person referenced within the information. You have the right to request a review of this decision. To inspect and copy your medical information, you must submit a written request to the Privacy Officer whose contact information is listed on the last pages of this Notice. If you request a copy of your information, AEGIS may charge you a fee for the costs of copying, mailing or other costs incurred by us in complying with your request.

Please contact our Privacy Officer if you have questions about access to your medical record.

B. The right to request a restriction on uses and disclosures of your protected health information. You may ask us not to use or disclose certain parts of your protected health information for the purposes of treatment, payment or health care operations. You may also request that AEGIS not disclose your health information to family members or friends who may be involved in your care or for notification purposes as described in this Notice of Privacy Practices. Your request must state the specific restriction requested and to whom you want the restriction to apply.

We are not required to agree to a restriction that you may request, except for disclosure to a health plan when you have paid in full out-of-pocket for your care. AEGIS will notify you if AEGIS denies your request to a restriction. If we agree to the requested restriction, AEGIS may not use or disclose your protected health information in violation of that restriction unless it is needed to provide emergency treatment. Under certain circumstances, AEGIS may terminate their agreement to a restriction. You may request a restriction by contacting the Privacy Officer.

C. The right to request to receive confidential communications from us by alternative means or at an alternative location. You have the right to request that AEGIS communicate with you in certain ways. AEGIS will accommodate reasonable requests. AEGIS may condition this accommodation by asking you for information as to how payment will be handled or specification of an alternative address or other method of contact. AEGIS will not require you to provide an explanation for your request. Requests must be made in writing to our Privacy Officer.

D. The right to have your provider amend your protected health information. You may request an amendment of protected health information about you in a designated record set for as long as AEGIS maintain this information. In certain cases, AEGIS may deny your request for an amendment. If AEGIS denies your request for amendment, you have the right to file a statement of disagreement with us and AEGIS may prepare a rebuttal to your statement and will provide you with a copy of any such rebuttal. Requests for amendment must be in writing and must be directed to our Privacy Officer. In this written request, you must also provide a reason to support the requested amendments.

E. The right to receive an accounting. You have the right to request an accounting of certain disclosures of your protected health information made by AEGIS. The request for an accounting must be made in writing to our Privacy Officer. The request should specify the time period sought for the accounting. Accounting requests may not be made for periods of time in excess of six years. AEGIS will provide the first accounting you request during any 12-month period without charge. Subsequent accounting requests may be subject to a reasonable cost-based fee.

F. The right to obtain a paper copy of this notice. Upon request, AEGIS will provide a separate paper copy of this notice even if you have already received a copy of the notice or have agreed to accept this notice electronically.

VI. Our Duties
AEGIS is required by law to maintain the privacy of your health information and to provide you with this Notice of our duties and privacy practices. AEGIS is required to abide by the terms of this Notice as it may be amended from time to time. AEGIS reserves the right to change the terms of this Notice and to make the new Notice provisions effective for all protected health information that AEGIS maintains. If AEGIS changes its Notice, AEGIS will provide a copy of the revised Notice by posting it on our website and upon request.

VII. Complaints
You have the right to express complaints to AEGIS and to the Secretary of Health and Human Services if you believe that your privacy rights have been violated. You may complain to AEGIS by contacting the Privacy Officer verbally or in writing, using the contact information below. AEGIS encourages you to express any concerns you may have regarding the privacy of your information. You will not be retaliated against in any way for filing a complaint. If AEGIS discovers a breach by us involving your unsecured health information, AEGIS will notify you of the breach by letter or other method permitted by law.

VIII. Contact Person
AEGIS' contact person for all issues regarding patient privacy and your rights under the Federal privacy standards is the Privacy Officer. Information regarding matters covered by this Notice can be requested by contacting the Privacy Officer. Complaints against AEGIS can be mailed to the Privacy Officer by sending it to:

Aegis Sciences Corporation
